EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Rye's majority for Governor in Tennessee was 18,655.

An esrly winter is hampering military operations in France.

Hughes would now be glad to win even by a "close shave."

The Ella Monroe murder case at Elizabethtown was continued until March 6.

Ninety-four auto licenses were issued last week, bringing the total up 31,250.

Up to a late hour last night Mr. Hughes had not yet congratulated Wilson.

Turkeys went up another cent yesterday and are selling at 22 cents on the local market.

In spite of President Wilson's runaway majority in Wyoming, Mondell, Republican, for Congress pulled in by 482.

John D. Wells, editor of the Buffalo News, aspires to take James Whitcomb Riley's place as a writer of poetry for the masses.

Official canvass of forty-two of the fifty-eight counties in California has been completed without any change from unofficial returns.

It is believed that Villa is clearing the districts controlled by him of foreigners, especially Chinese, by wholesale massacres.

Bear in mind, girls, that the first woman elected to Congress makes her own clothes. If you want to go to Congress, take heed.

Utah and New Hampshire, the only two states that went Republican four years ago, went Democratic this time.

Heber Mathews, editor of the Hartford, Ky. Herald, died Nov. 16, of heart trouble. He is survived by his wife and two children, a son and a daughter.

Mayor V. G. Richardson, of Batesville, Ark., who killed Farrell Padgett, charging him with an attempt to alienate the affections of his 17-year-old wife, was tried and acquitted.

Thirty-two hundred women in California held the balance of power and voted for Wilson. Why not have a lady member of the Cabinet to be known as "Secretary of Fashions?"

The Republicans have 216 members of the House, the Democrats 212 and the 6 independents hold the balance of power. Democrats hope to secure the help of five of them in organizing the House a year hence.

The wholesale deportation of Belgians to Germany to work under duress has been confirmed. It is reported that 30,000 have already been taken and that they expect to take 300,000.

Lieut. O. B. Jones, a Canadian officer, was dismissed some time ago by court-martial. He determined to "make good," enlisted as a private, gained promotion and a medal by reckless courage, and has now received a commission again.

Only four no-hit games were pitched in big league ball last season. In the American, Foster and Leonard, of Boston, and Bush, of Philadelphia, each pitched one. In the National the only one was by Hughes, of Boston. In the National game of politics, Hughes, of New York, struck out Nov. 7th.

HOPKINSVILLE HIGH SCHOOL LOST.

WANT TO SETTLE LIQUOR ISSUE

Influences in Kentucky Democratic Party Demand Submission to The People.

REMOVE FROM POLITICS

Urged That Both Prohibition and Woman's Suffrage Be Put Up to The Voters.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 20.—Probably no greater, or more serious political problem ever confronted the people of Kentucky than that which has developed here this week in the demand of certain powerful influences within the democratic party for a submission by the legislature to the voters of Kentucky constitutional amendments for the establishment of prohibition and woman's suffrage.

The effect of this unexpected development, coming suddenly and immediately after the national election, it appears, however, was not the result of "snap judgment," but rather a carefully considered and matured plan for the settlement, for all time to come, of these two questions.

The situation is clearly set forth in The Times, which asserts the belief that the agitation of these issues has "reached a point where their settlement will do more to clear the air of Kentucky, politically and commercially, than any other agency." While the suffrage question is not considered very seriously—in fact it is viewed more of a fad than an issue—there seems to be a grim determination to rid politics in Kentucky of the thorn of prohibition, which, undoubtedly would be a point gained toward better government.

In brief, Kentucky democracy has shown what it can do when united, and there is every indication that this movement to submit the amendments to the voter for a decision will succeed thus in removing them as obstructions to legislative progress and at the same time obviate any menace of a division in the party in the future.

However, it is not possible to take any legislative action before the regular session of the legislature in 1918. In the meantime the people of the state will have full opportunity to view the prohibition question from all angles before casting their vote in 1919, which would be the earliest an election could be held, provided the legislature decided upon a submission of the amendments.

A veritable cyclone of discussion, views and opinions has followed these proposals.

HOPKINSVILLE MAN SPOKE.

The Business Men's Association met in regular session last Friday night, and as no special business was transacted the meeting was brief. It was reported that $4,000, the required amount for the stock barn, had been subscribed and the erection of this building is an assured fact. Gaines Cooksey, Gene Flowers and Charles Moore were appointed a committee to select and recommend suitable building lots. Mr. R. M. Wooldridge, of Hopkinsville, was present and made an interesting talk relative to a loose leaf floor in this city. The association has 114 members.—Russellville Times.

The firm of R. M. Wooldridge & Co. has opened a loose floor warehouse in Russellville.

Peculiar Suit Filed.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 19.—The Western State Hospital for the Insane has filed suit in the Daviess Circuit Court against the trustee of Blattie Scroggins, an inmate, who was a pauper when she was sent to the institution, to recover $2,250 for maintenance. The inmate inherited an estate of $700 after her confinement in the asylum. This suit brings out an unusual point of law.

PROCLAMATION

Urges Help For European War Sufferers.

Washington, Nov. 19.—President Wilson formally by proclamation designated Thursday, November 30, as Thanksgiving day. Here follows the President's proclamation:

"It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us and the nation.

"The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but the whole face of the world has been darkened by war. In the midst of our peace and happiness, our thoughts dwell upon the struggles and sufferings of the nations at war and of the peoples upon whom war has brought disaster without choice or possibility of escape on their part. We cannot think of our own happiness without thinking of their pitiful distress.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, the thirtieth of November, as a day of national thanksgiving and prayer, and urge and advise the people to resort to their several places of worship on that day to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity which it has bestowed upon our beloved country in such unstinted measure.

"And I also urge and suggest our duty in this our day of peace and abundance to think in deep sympathy of the stricken peoples of the world upon whom the curse and terror of war has so pitilessly fallen and to contribute out of abundant means to the relief of their sufferings."

"Our people could in no better way show their real attitude toward the present struggle of nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which the war has brought in its train.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this 17th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1916, and of the Independence of the United States the 141st.

"WOODROW WILSON.
By the President, ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State."

MARTIN COMING DECEMBER 18

Great Musical Event Secured By Mr. Garland Cooper.

Mr. Garland Cooper has announced Dec. 18 as the definite date for the Riccardo Martin appearance here, at the Union Tabernacle. The prices will be $1.50 and $1.00, a very low rate, as Mr. Martin will sing here for the first time in his home town and wants the price as low as he ever sings for anywhere.

LESS THAN 400.

The official plurality for Hughes in Minnesota is 396, the total vote being Hughes, 179,553, and Wilson, 179,157. It is not announced whether all of the 12 electors have the same majority, but the vote is evidently based on the head of the ticket.

Weather For Week

Washington, Nov. 20.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Sunday, issued by the Weather Bureau are for Ohio Valley: Fair until Thursday or Friday, when there will be rains. Temperature will average much higher.

Baptist Church Burned.

Princeton, Ky., Nov. 19.—The Baptist church at Otter Pond, this county, was destroyed by fire. A protracted meeting was in progress at the church, and the fire occurred at night after the services had closed.

FINE SHOWING OF BOY'S CLUBS

Joint Meeting of Corn and Pig Club Boys Held on Saturday.

A meeting of the Corn Club and the Pig Club boys was held at the H. B. M. A. rooms in Hopkinsville on Nov. 18th, presided over by the County Agent, James A. McKenzie.

These boys had been invited to town to meet and hand in their record books of the work they had done with the pigs given them by J. H. Anderson & Co., and to receive the prizes offered by the First National Bank of this city.

A business meeting of the boys was first held, at which meeting Mr. Ed. L. Weathers, Vice President of the First National Bank, and Mr. George Crenshaw, Manager of the J. H. Anderson & Co., made very interesting talks to the boys, emphasizing the importance of raising better corn crops and better live stock in the county. They pointed out the fact to the boys that these boys are to be the future business men, farmers, doctors and stock raisers of the county. That if they learned how to raise a pig properly and work an acre of corn properly that it would be a good earnest that they would do all of their future work in a business like way, which would lead them to success in life.

It may be remembered that last June the J. H. Anderson & Co., gave away ten registered Duroc Jersey gilts to ten boys in the county with the understanding that these gilts should be fed and cared for according to instructions of the Department of Agriculture, and under the supervision of the County Agent; that records of the amount of feed, cost of feeding, gain in weight—in short, a complete business record of raising the pig to be kept. That out of the first litter of pigs from these gilts, two select sow pigs should be returned to J. H. Anderson & Co., to be given out to other boys, thus increasing the number of boys engaged in this Pig Club work.

The First National Bank offered a prize of $5.00 to any boy, between the ages of 10 and 18, up the number of 40, who would raise an acre of corn according to the plans and requirements of the Department of Agriculture, keep a complete record of cost of production.

The following boys answered to the roll call, and delivered their records and received a $5.00 deposit in the First National Bank.

JOHN P. BURNETT

Died In Houston, Texas, Sunday Morning and Interment In Riverside.

John P. Burnett died in Houston, Texas, at 12:15 Sunday morning. His mother, Mrs. Ritchie Burnett, was here and while she was advised the day before of the near approach of his death she was unable to reach his bedside and so remained here. Mr. Burnett was the only son of the late Isaac Burnett and was born in Cadiz in June, 1867. When he was a child, the family moved to this city and his early life was spent here. For a number of years he was in business here and later went on the road as a commercial traveler. About ten years ago he located in Houston. He had a severe spell of illness about three years ago that left him almost an invalid. The immediate cause of his death was blood poisoning, which came upon him unexpectedly.

Mr. Burnett was twice married. His first wife was Miss Cora Petree, who died before he removed to Texas. He is survived by a widow to whom he was married a few years ago in Louisville. He leaves no children.

The body will be brought here for interment in Riverside Cemetery and upon arrival at 3:20 this afternoon will be taken from the I. C. depot to the cemetery, where brief services will be held at the grave.

Mr. Burnett was a member of the Christian church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Adoue, of Houston, will come with the body, Mrs. Adoue being a sister of the deceased.

The honorary pall-bearers will be Dr. F. M. Stiles, R. M. Wooldridge, W. A. Radford and W. D. Moore.

The active pall-bearers will be F. H. Mason, Wm. Kimmons, C. H. Tandy, J. B. Allensworth, Dr. F. P. Thomas, J. T. Edmunds, Jno. F. Danforth and M. H. Tandy.

REV. ESHMAN OF C. P. CHURCH

Resigns Pastorate To Take Effect On March 1st, 1917.

Rev. J. B. Eshman, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, has tendered his resignation to take effect March 1, 1917, or before should he decide to leave the city earlier. Mr. Eshman has been the pastor of the church for five years and has done efficient work for his church and has made many friends outside of his own congregation. His plans have not been announced.

Zep Brought Down.

A Zeppelin airship has been brought down by Russian troops near Sarny, southeast of Pinsk and the crew was captured, says Petrograd.

showing a net profit for the acre of corn of $31.80. Another good record was that of Alvis Stephens of Pembroke, Ky., whose total yield was 84 bu. per acre, cost per bushel 22c, net profit $56.20; another excellent showing was that of Ellis Underwood of Hopkinsville, total yield 77 bu. and 31 lbs., cost per bu. 15c, net profit $53.38.

The record of both the Pig Club and Corn Club boys prove conclusively that it pays well to raise corn and hogs according to improved methods, and it is believed that these two clubs will do much towards improving corn and hog raising in the county.

After the business meeting, the boys were entertained at the Pennyroyal, where they took dinner at the expense of The J. H. Anderson & Co., and the First National Bank, after dinner still as the guests of the two above mentioned firms, the boys had a treat at the soda fountain, and went to the picture show. All report a royal good time.

The Corn Club boy looked very business like as he walked out of the First National Bank with his pass book in his hand, showing a credit of $5.00, and the beginning of a bank account that may be the beginning of his start in life as a business man.

MONASTIR FALLS TO THE SERBIANS

Temporary Capital of the Homeless Nation Will Be Established There.

TEUTONS FORCE MTS.

Have Occupied the Narrow Passes Leading to the Plains of Rumania.

London, Nov. 20.—After having been for months without a country, the Serbians are again to establish their capital on native soil.

Monastir in southern Serbia for which the entente forces have been struggling since the advance from their base at Saloniki began, has been evacuated by German and Bulgarian forces and has been occupied by the French and a considerable number of Serbs.

Unofficial advices from Saloniki say that a temporary capital of Serbia will be immediately established in Monastir. With the reoccupation of Monastir, the railway line from the entente allied base at Saloniki is now in entente hands.

East and southeast of Monastir the French and Serbian troops continued to make gains in the Cerna river region against the Teutonic allies, having captured several other towns in this region.

GAIN AGAINST RUMANIANS.

On the Transylvanian front the Austro-German armies at almost all points continue to make progress against the Russian and Rumanian forces or to hold them back without gains when they attack. The latest reports from Berlin say the Teutonic allies have forced the narrow mountain passes leading to the Wallachian plain of Rumania and on the Danube front near the junction of Hungary, Serbia and Rumania have reached the Orsova-Craiova railroad. Bucharest reports a Rumanian advance in the region of Dragoslavele.

From Nov. 1 to Nov. 13 the Austro-Germans are said to have made prisoner 189 officers and 19,338 men and to have captured 26 guns, 72 machine guns and 17 ammunition cars.

Lively infantry and artillery actions are taking place in the Dobruja region near Silistria on the eastern bank of the Danube, about 40 miles southwest of the Tchernavoda-Constanza railway.

BAD WEATHER IN FRANCE.

Bad weather is hampering the operations on the western front in France but the British nevertheless have taken twenty additional German officers and 752 men prisoner in the Ancre sector, making their total prisoners since the thirteenth of November, 6,862.

Berlin says that in Saturday's fighting, which was over a front of seven and a half miles, the British met with a sanguinary reverse except for a significant gains southwest of Scarpe and near Grandcourt.

A French attack south of Verdun, Suiflisse met with a similar repulse.

Attacks by the Austrians on the Adige valley and upper Danube regions, in the latter of which the Austrians and Italians fought hand to hand, the Italians were victorious, according to the Rome war office.

Argyll's Tea-Tree.

The rise in the price of tea will remind some of the plant which was introduced into England in order that its leaves might be used as a substitute for tea. This is "The Duke of Argyll's Tea-Tree," a shrubby plant bearing little purple flowers, and in the autumn bright tomato-red berries. The duke of Argyll, who brought it from Africa, must have been disappointed at the result, for although it flourishes now as a pretty ornament in many a cottage garden it produces no tea at all. Only its name remains to remind us of the hopes once entertained of its value.

SELF-FEEDING PLAN

Value Demonstrated in Recent Experiments at Beltsville.

PLAN IS VERY PRACTICABLE

Grade Berkshires, Uniform in Size. Averaging 93 Pounds Were Used—Ample Room for Exercise Was Given Animals.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The value of the self-feeder method of fattening pigs was demonstrated in an experiment recently carried out at the experimental farm of the bureau of animal industry at Beltsville, Md. The object was to determine the value of this system as compared with the ordinary method of hand feeding.

The pigs used in the experiment were grade Berkshires sired in the fall of 1915. They averaged 93 pounds per head when the experiment started.

The hand-fed lot were fed three times daily, the amount being governed by the appetite. The ration given the hand-fed hogs was composed of 5 parts cornmeal, 4 parts middlings and 1 part tankage. The cornmeal and supplements were mixed dry. Just before feeding, the amount to be fed was weighed and then mixed into a thick slop, enough water being used to make the slop pour out of the bucket without sticking. The feeding was done at 7 and 11:30 o'clock in the forenoon and 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Inexpensive Self-Feeder.

The self-fed lot had free access at all times to cornmeal, middlings and tankage in separate compartments of a self-feeder. Close watch was kept on the feeder, and a supply of each feed maintained.

Both lots of pigs were kept in dry lots a quarter of an acre in size. The pigs were given ample room for exercise and sufficient shelter. The pigs in both lots had access to a mineral mixture composed of:

Charcoal, baked.....1
 Hardwood shavings, hauled.....1
 Salt, pounds.....8
 Air slaker lime, pounds.....8
 Sulphur, pounds.....4
 Pulverized copperas, pounds.....2

Summary of Results.

Feeding period, Feb. 22 to May 2, 1916—59 days.

Hand-fed lot, x 9

Number of pigs, 9

Average initial weight, pounds, 94.00

Average final weight, pounds, 167.50

Average gain per pig, pounds, 73.50

Average daily gain, pounds, 1.24

Feed eaten daily by pigs, pounds, 1.61

Corn meal, pounds, 2.13

Middlings, pounds, 1.70

Tankage, pounds, .42

Average daily ration, pounds, 4.25

Pounds of feed per pig, 405.00

Cost of 100 pounds gain, $6.24

*Ration: 5 parts corn meal, 4 parts middlings, 1 part tankage.

xRation: Cornmeal, middlings, tankage.

The cost per ton of feed used in the experiments was as follows: Cornmeal, $27; middlings, $30; tankage, $50.

All the pigs in the self-feeder lot maintained keen appetites during the 70 days of feeding. The hand-fed pigs averaged 94 pounds per head and the self-fed pigs 92 pounds per head at the beginning of the test. At the end of 70 days the hand-fed pigs averaged 167.5 pounds and the self-fed pigs 205 pounds, 37.5 pounds more than the hand-fed pigs. The self-fed pigs consumed a greater quantity of feed per head during the test than the hand-fed pigs, but it took only 405 pounds of feed to produce 100 pounds at a cost of $5.07, while the hand-fed pigs produced 100 pounds of gain at a cost of $6.24.

The self-fed pigs made a better showing, surpassing the hand-fed lot in both rate and economy of gains. The results of the experiment clearly show that for quick fattening the self-feeder is very practicable.

General Grant and Mark Twain.

How Mark Twain first met General Grant is one of the incidents of the May installment of Albert Bigelow Paine's "Boys' Life" of the humorist which is running serially in St. Nicholas. Mark Twain was acting as a newspaper correspondent in Washington in the late '60s and had called on Grant by permission, elated at the prospect of an interview. But when he looked into the square, smileless face of the soldier, he found himself, for the first time in his life, without anything particular to say. Grant nodded slightly and waited. His caller wished something would happen. It did. His inspiration returned. "General," he said, "I seem to be slightly embarrassed. Are you?" Grant's severity broke up in laughter. There were no further difficulties.

"MINING" FOR NATURAL GAS

There is No Other Sure Way of Revealing Its Presence.

The obtaining of natural gas is essentially a matter of disposition, with, however, more unknown, uncontrollable and uncertain features to contend with than exist in any other class of mining or in any other business. There is absolutely no certain way of finding natural gas; the only method to pursue is to drill holes in the ground until a well is developed. There are no sure surface indications for guidance, although some geologists claim that they can locate gas. The results of their endeavors, however, very rarely substantiate such claims.

The first process in the work is to send out men to secure the leases. H. C. Reeser writes in the National Magazine for September. They visit the farmers and landowners and endeavor to secure the gas rights on the most favorable terms. If the territory is strictly "wildcat" that is, remote from gas developments, the land can usually be leased without much difficulty, and at prices ranging from 10 to 25 cents an acre a year, for say ten years, with the provision that unless oil or gas is found in paying quantities before the expiration of the term the lease becomes null and void. If, however, a successful well is drilled during the term of the agreement the lease is extended for "so long as oil or gas is found in paying quantities."

THIS CAT DIVES FOR FROGS

How a Farmer's Pet Angora Captures Amphibians in Maine Waters.

Warren Clement of Millvale, while at work in his hayfield, heard a loud splash in a pond nearby, and thinking that perhaps a horse mackerel had got into the sheet of water, noiselessly approached the spot, and was astonished, although he knew that he had one of the brightest cats in Maine, when he saw his pet Angora cat dive from a stump and disappear in the water, only to reappear within a few seconds bearing a frog in its mouth, says the Bangor Commercial.

Depositing the now lifeless frog on the ground, the four-footed coon gained the stump again, crouched, another spring, another dive, another swim and another frog.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Holli's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Holli's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any cure that it fails to cure. Send for full particulars.

A DIFFERENT MAN

By SARA HOLT.

Little Morton's two short visits to New York with her parents had shown her only the New York of hotels and department stores. When she went there alone to study social service she discovered many phases of life of which she knew nothing.

One night she sat far into the night reading a book called "Greed and Grind." This book had been the means of causing many changes in the factory management where girls had been overworked in bad air and unsafe surroundings. It made Little feel that she must do something to help girls whose daily work held them in a vise stronger than the social customs of Marshallville had held her, so she began to study their problems. She went to lectures and even to courtrooms to hear trials.

With the enthusiasm of a new convert, she entered into the question with more zeal than judgment. One afternoon, when an open meeting in Union square was over, she sat still after the crowd scattered and looked about her.

On a bench near her sat a young man she had seen at nearly all such meetings she had attended. He was always in the crowd, but apparently not of it, and she had come to think of him as "the different man." He was perhaps thirty, with dark eyes and hair.

Deep in speculation about "the different man," Little did not notice that another sort of man had sat down on the same bench with her. As she turned her eyes from the slowly departing figure of "the different man," she met the confidently familiar smile of the man who had sat down beside her. He was a fat and florid blond, dressed in a loud suit of brown tweed.

"Never mind, girly," he said, with a smiling smile. "He's gone, but I'm here, and wouldn't it be a fair bargain to take me in his place?" Little turned pale and, with her chin in the air, quickly arose without taking any apparent notice of the speaker. She started away in a fast walk and was surprised to see that "the different man" had turned and was walking toward her. She failed to see that a wobbly leg on roller skates was close behind her, and the next moment her feet were knocked from under her and she landed on top of a frightened little girl.

When Little was once more on her feet she started forward and almost bumped into "the different man." She was holding her right wrist as if in pain and the whiteness of her face arrested the eyes of the man.

"I'm afraid you're hurt," he began, his dark face glowing with a confused flush. "Won't you let me be of service?" As Little looked into his kind eyes she did the very thing she didn't want to do—she let the tears that had been burning her eyes roll down her now crimson cheeks.

"Thank you," she said simply. "There's a drug store right over here where you can have this properly bandaged," said the man, as he examined the injured wrist.

As they emerged from the drug store a little later, it seemed quite natural for them to continue walking together.

"Did you get an overdose of 'local color' this time?" the man's gray eyes were laughing a little now.

"Local color?" I don't understand." "Why, I thought—" the man hesitated and looked puzzled. "You may think I was presuming to think about you at all, but I've supposed that you went to all these queer meetings to get 'local color' for your stories, as I do."

"Oh, so that's what you do? I've wondered and wondered who you were!" This unassuming admission made the man smile, and he drew a card from his pocket.

"I'll tell you what we'd better do!" He smiled assent to her enthusiastic offer, and she continued: "You give me your card and I'll give you mine, but we won't look at the names until we get home!"

A few moments later they were in a taxicab and being whirled along toward Little's lodging.

"Suppose we look at our cards now!" Little became suddenly pliant.

"Miss Letitia Pembroke Morton," read the man impressively. "What a big name for a small girl."

"Never mind, sir; now I shall see how big a name you have!" She drew his card from her purse, cleared her throat affectingly, and turned her head critically to one side, but when she pronounced the name, it was an exclamation. "John Wood Thompson. Oh-h-h! Not really the author of 'Greed and Grind'?" She looked straight into his eyes as she asked for this confirmation of her discovery, and the man nodded affirmatively. "How perfectly splendid! Why, it's you who have achieved such wonderful things to help people!"

John was thinking that one thing more must be relieved to help himself before the world would be right again, but he feared it was much too soon to mention it. Just then the taxicab stopped at Little's number and the conventional good-by had to be said, but their acquaintance continued afterward and culminated in what John termed his really great achievement—"the winning of a wonderful wife."

Country Butter.

When the opportunity to sell cream has caused all the farmers to give up making butter—and many of them sell their cream and buy butter for home consumption—there will be a limited demand from well-to-do homes for especially good country butter, and a few farmers in every community can profit by it. But that can be done—it is done in the vicinity of large cities now, especially in the East—only by making butter scientifically and exactly right at each time. The old fashioned plan of putting the cream in a jar and letting the jar sit by the chimney to ripen the cream, and then churn it without a thermometer does not make tip-top country butter. That country butter has sold below the price of the creamery product has been due to its lack of uniform excellence. You know what creamery butter is. You know what good country butter is going to be only when you know it has been made by an experienced and careful housekeeper who does not leave the care of dairy products to negligent servants.

Good country butter always is preferred to discriminating palates. But so much of it has been of uncertain quality that the creameries with their uniformly good, but never really excellent product have had no difficulty in selling their output at prices much higher than the farmer's wife has been able to command.—Shelbyville Record.

ABOUT AUTOMOBILES.

Editor Kentuckian:

In one of your recent issues, in speaking of the number of automobiles owned in the county, you expressed the opinion that there were probably 350 now and that new purchases were being made continually. You probably did not include in your estimate the auto trucks and delivery machines, but only those in private use. The figures are conservative and will doubtless reach 400 during the next few months if not that already. Of this number, probably 100 are owned by doctors, road commissioners and mail carriers, which would leave 300 for personal and family use. It is not the purpose of this article to criticize any one that is able to do so for buying an auto, or to condemn their use. They are great conveniences and, along with telephones, rural mail delivery and good roads serve for bringing the community closer together and making the farmers' life less isolated and more comfortable and to supply the lack of interurban railways, although many of them are mere luxuries. But the writer wishes to submit a few figures and to raise the question that was put by Mr. Toodles to his wife, "Mrs. Toodles, where is the money?"

These 300 automobiles, you will assume, cost on an average $600 each, making the sum of $180,000.

New wheels, tires and other repairs for 1 year cost, say, $120 each. $36,000

Gasoline 1 yr. say, $130 each. $39,000

Interest on the investment 1 year. $19,800

Total cost first year. $349,800

All this money goes out of the county except the interest or what may be borrowed here to help pay for the machines. At the end of the second year another $190,000 will go for repairs and gasoline. The third year another $100,000 and this will continue until new machines are required, which will be about the fourth year when out must go $240,000 more, which will make in all in round numbers about $900,000 gone out of the county never to return. The same process to be repeated about every four years, increasing each in proportion to the increase in number of machines bought. "A pretty stiff tax" you will say and a large proportion of it not necessary. As Mr. Toodles remarked to his wife, "Mrs. Toodles, where is the money?" when provisions and clothing and fuel and building material are all from 25 to 100 per cent higher than usual and advancing in prices every day. You might say that "the money put into automobiles reduces the amount that would otherwise be spent for buggies, wagons and horses." That may be true to a very limited extent only, but even then the material and labor that would go into them would be supplied mostly from our own territory and the money for these things would remain to circulate at home and besides that the average life of a horse and buggy is about three times that of an automobile. This question is simply one of economics and is worthy of serious consideration. X. N. X.

SUNDAY GREATER PLAYER THAN COBB, SAYS VETERAN

Evangelist Could Run Bases and Field Better Than Ty, Declares Eagle-Eye Jake Beckley.

There's at least one ball-playing person who refuses to make it unanimous about Ty Cobb being the greatest ball player of all time. And that's old Eagle-Eye Jake Beckley, who played the game nearly as long as Nap Lajoie and is now an umpire, living in Kansas City. A quarter century ago old Eagle-Eye was in his prime, one of the hardest hitting first snickers the game ever knew.

"You can have your Ty Cobbs and your Benny Kauffs," Jake Beckley says. "I'll take Billy Sunday for my ball club right now, and I sold the same thing back in ninety."

"He's fifty-two years old today, but he's running bases and sliding every day in that pulpit just as he did back

Billy Sunday.

In the old days. If he'd stayed in the game Cobb never would have been famous.

"He was greater than Ty Cobb ever dared to be in three departments of the game.

"Everybody thinks Cobb can run bases. I'd spot him a second against Billy Sunday and then watch Bill score first.

"They think Cobb covers outfield territory. They should have seen Sunday in his prime.

"And throw—say, he could throw strikes from center field just as easily as Tris Speaker.

"Batting was where Sunday was weak. But in another year or so he would have overcome that weakness. He was just that kind.

"He had more fight in his heart than any man I ever saw."

First American Novelist.

The first American novelist to take up literature as a profession and a means of livelihood—the pioneer—was Charles Brookden Brown, who died 100 years ago, at the age of thirty-nine. Brown was a native of Philadelphia, and his ancestors were Quakers, who came over with William Penn. He studied law, but abandoned that profession for literature. "Wicham," his first novel, was published in 1798, and was followed the next year by "Ormond." Both novels were successful, and, although they now seem rather crude, they stood as the best American fiction up to Cooper.

Edgar Huntley: The Adventures of a Sleepwalker, was his next novel, and it was followed by "Clara Howard," "Jane Talbot" and other tales. Brown died of consumption, and, although his literary career covered only 13 years, he produced 24 volumes. Brown is justly to be regarded as the father of American fiction, as he was the first to take up novel writing seriously and not as a mere diversion.

A soft yellowish-brown mass from an ancient Roman vase discovered at Tivoli has been identified as toilet cream by M. L. Reutter, a French chemist. A trace of storax and turpentine odor remained, and examination showed it to be a mixture of beeswax and fat, with the addition of a little storax and oil of turpentine, and the presence of tartrates suggested that it had been macerated with wine. A yellow color imparted to the skin was attributed to henna.

DESSERT OF MERIT

CHARLOTTE'S EASY TO MAKE AND WILL BE LIKED.

Sponge Cake the Foundation of Delicacy That is Worthy of a Place on Every Luncheon or Tea Table.

Charlottes are easily made, and as they can be varied widely, they are worth serving often. The foundation of a charlotte is a case of sponge cake filled with whipped cream.

Lady fingers or small sponge cakes cut in two, or slices of sponge cake cut in narrow strips, can be used for the case. The sponge cake, in whatever form, can be placed as a lining to a glass dessert dish, or it can be placed in individual dessert glasses. Lady fingers can be split and piled log-cabin fashion and the cream put into them. Or the sponge cake can be put around the sides and bottom of a mold and held in place with a little liquid gelatin. When the gelatin hardens the cream is put in.

This combining gelatin and sponge cake and whipped cream leads to much variety. Lemon, orange, wine and grape-juice jelly are delicious used in this way.

As for the charlotte filling of whipped cream, that, too, can be varied. Stiff egg whites can be folded into whipped cream to increase the bulk and make the mixture lighter if desired.

The cream should not be sweetened too highly. It can be flavored simply with vanilla.

Candied fruits can be cut into tiny shreds and mixed in the whipped cream.

Orange pulp cut into bits can be mixed with sweetened whipped cream.

Stewed figs can be cut into small bits and mixed with the filling for a charlotte.

Fresh berries of any sort almost, especially strawberries and red raspberries, can be mixed into the cream for a charlotte russe.

A big sponge cake can be hollowed out inside and the charlotte filling piled into the cavity.

Many desserts have interesting histories. This is one of them. But nobody is sure of its history. The French claim that Charlotte de Medel either originated this dessert or that it was named for her, and the English say it is a namesake of Charlotte, queen of George III.

CAULIFLOWER IN FAVOR

Vegetable Is Closely Related to the Cabbage Tribe.

Very Rich Soil Required, and It Must Be Given Most Particular Treatment—Market Demands Snowy White Heads.

Cauliflower is closely related to the cabbage tribe, but much more refined in its habits and more difficult to cultivate. It requires a very rich soil and the most particular treatment, and no farmer or gardener would be justified in attempting its cultivation on a large scale, or to depend upon it as a market crop without first having thoroughly studied its peculiarities and requirements.

The market desires snowy white heads, so that protection is universally practiced to accomplish this purpose. Three methods are used: (1) The breaking of half a dozen or more leaves over the top of the cauliflower head. The stems of the leaves are not severed entirely, so that the leaves remain green. (2) Breaking or bending over the leaves as just explained, and pinning with toothpicks or small pins. This is a very satisfactory method for all sections. (3) Bringing the leaves together over the head and tying. This is an excellent plan, but requires more time than securing with the toothpicks. The protection should begin when the heads are about an inch and a half in diameter.

Cauliflower is considered a delicacy on most tables, and it pays to exercise special care in the marketing. Although barrels are often used, crates or baskets are better. A package which will not hold more than a dozen or at most two dozen heads certainly has an advantage over the barrels.

If the heads are of good size, snowy white, wrapped in fancy paper, and marketed in new, clean packages they cannot fail to attract attention, and command good prices.

AUTUMN DEMAND FOR CELERY

Tendency to Rush Product to Market Before It Is Well Blended—Loss in Trimming.

The trading fall weather will stimulate the demand for celery. At this season when it is selling readily at good prices, there is a tendency to rush celery to market before it is well blended. This is a mistake, because it necessitates severe trimming at the market end, and the product goes to the cheaper trade. To catch the best grade, celery must be fully blanched, clean and well trimmed.

"Handling" celery should be finished promptly and the rows ridged as fast as possible. If the soil is allowed to get into the hearts of the plants it will cause rot. Celery intended for storage should not be ridged. In some quarters there is a prejudice against blanching celery with boards. It is claimed that blanching with earth makes it crispier and gives it a better flavor. Just the same, much of the product grown in various parts of the country is blanched with boards, and it sells for top prices, too.

POTATO GATHERER IS HANDY

Mechanism Is Placed on Forward End of Frame of Device—Conveyor Carries Potatoes.

Wisconsin is coming to the front as a potato state, and as a standardized variety potato state that uses pedigree seed it leads them all. Naturally, potato interests are receiving the attention of inventors more or less in that state. Here we are showing a drawing of a recent patent of a potato gatherer by a Louisburg (Wis.) man. The gathering mechanism is placed in the forward end of the frame that is pivoted on a wheeled axle, a conveyor for carrying the potatoes back to the rear from the gathering mechanism being also carried. The frame carries fingers of unequal length, placed successively long and short, and directed forward over the conveyor. A second conveyor is mounted on the frame above the first one, the upper one carrying transverse rake bars.—Farming Business.

Potato Gatherer.

MANURE APPLIED IN GARDEN

Fresh Fertilizer Induces Rank Growth of Stem and Leaf—Yield Is Greatly Reduced.

Barnyard manure is good for the garden if applied at the right time, but there are times when its application is harmful. Fresh manure, when applied immediately before planting, cannot be thoroughly incorporated with the soil. As a result the land is hard to work and the ground is loose instead of compact. Fresh manure also induces a rank growth of stem and leaf, and as a result of these factors, the yield of most vegetables is greatly reduced.

An Unfortunate Beginning.

A young miner got married, and for the first week's housekeeping expenses he gave his wife the good round sum of $1. The girl, to his surprise, accepted the dollar cheerfully, and that week they lived abundantly enough, albeit plainly. So, for the second week, the miner doled out only half a dollar. Then his wife went for him. She told him what she thought of his meanness. The house reverberated with her indignation. The miner, in the midst of the storm, clapped on his hat and stalked out, muttering: "I see what's the matter here. I spoiled ye the first week."—Philadelphia Ledger.

ONE DISADVANTAGE OF ARMOR

English Princess Thought That It Would Be Hard on Furniture.

When Princess Mary was quite a little girl the queen took her one day to the Tower of London, and was very anxious that she should understand the historical associations of the place. In the course of their tour the royal party came upon a particularly fine suit of armor with spiked helmet, spikes on the knees and spurs.

Thinking to impress the princess with the chivalry of those days, says Pearson's Weekly, her majesty said, "This, Mary, is a suit of armor that used to be worn by the knights. What do you think of it?"

For a time the princess remained silent, while she seemed to be thinking deeply.

"Perhaps it was all right," she said at last doubtfully; "but can't you imagine how awfully it must have scratched the furniture?"

RENTED TO WHEELER & CO.

Forbes Office Building On Main Street Leased For Wholesale Grocery.

The Forbes Manufacturing Co., yesterday closed out its implement department to the F. A. Yost Co. This is the first step to a removal of the Forbes Company from the office building on Main street, which has been leased to W. R. Wheeler & Co. for his wholesale grocery for next year. The Forbes offices down town will be in the building on Virginia street, where most of the department heads have been located this year. The growth of the business of the Mogul Wagon Co., is one of the reasons for reducing the number of the retail departments. The grocery and jewelry departments were disposed of a few years ago.

The office building will be fitted up for the use of W. R. Wheeler & Co., who will remove from their present stand on Sixth street the first of the year.

Now is the time to plant bulbs. Having bought surplus imported bulbs will sell at reduced prices.

MRS. CASON BURIED MONDAY

Interment Was in Rosedale
Cemetery at Pembroke, Kentucky.

Mrs. Sarah L. Cason died at her home on North Main street Sunday morning in the 81st year of her age. Mrs. Cason was Miss Sarah Brown before her marriage, being one of a family of thirteen children, ten brothers and three sisters. In 1857 the ten brothers rode together into the amphitheatre of the old fair grounds and their mother was presented with a premium by the fair company as the mother of the largest family present. The only survivor of the family now is Judge Milton D. Brown, of Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Cason's children who survive her are Robert and Tom Cason, Mrs. J. E. Bouldin and Misses Emma, Mollie, Sallie and Nell Cason.

She was a life long member of the Methodist church. Brief services were held at the residence at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by Rev. Virgil Elgin and Rev. Mr. Gordon, of Pembroke, and the body was taken to Pembroke for burial in Rosedale Cemetery. She was the widow of the late Jerome Cason.

Paid Proper Penalty.

Eddyville, Ky., Nov. 19.—Harry Garrison, negro, convicted of rape in the Campbell Circuit Court last year, was electrocuted for his crime in the Eddyville penitentiary at 4:30 o'clock this morning. This is the first electrocution in Kentucky for that crime. Thursday he admitted to Warden John B. Chilton that he was guilty of the crime with which he was charged. When Garrison came to the penitentiary he was an illiterate negro. During the year's confinement his time was occupied in learning to read and write. He could write a legible hand and had progressed to the fourth reader.

The Supreme Court.

The retirement of Justice Hughes from the Supreme Bench calls attention to possibilities of further changes in that body during the next four years.

Three members are now, by age and length of service, entitled to retire on a pension. Chief Justice White, born in 1845; appointed Justice in 1894, promoted in 1910; Justice McKenna, born in 1843, appointed in 1898; Justice Holmes, born in 1841, appointed in 1902.

Justice Day is sixty-eight years of age, and in feeble health. It is probable, therefore, that these four Justices will retire during the next four years, and that the appointment of their successors will be made by

President Wilson.

Of the Judges now on this Bench three have been appointed by President Wilson; McReynolds, born in 1862; Brandeis, born in 1856, and Clark, born in 1857; two—Pitney, born in 1858, and Van De Vanter, born in 1859—by President Taft.

It appears, therefore, that the Democrats, besides "carrying" the Presidency and the Senate, also "carried" the Supreme Court. And this, too, in the face of assurances given the public by Senator Lodge and Justice Hughes, that the Democratic party was unfit to govern the country.—Post.

Roberts Wins.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 20.—R. B. Roberts was declared elected Commonwealth Attorney in the Thirty-third district by the Court of Appeals, affirming the Leslie Circuit court in the contest instituted by C. W. Napier. Napier contended that Roberts had no right to run after being defeated in the primary.

Marrying Pensioners.

New Orleans, Nov. 19.—W. O. Hart, lawyer, and head of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, charged at a meeting of Camp Beauregard of that body, that he had learned that young girls 15 and 16 years old are marrying Union veterans of the civil War for the sake of the pension which will accrue to them as widows. Mr. Hart charged that the United States Government would be paying pensions to widows and heirs of these veterans at least until the year 2,000.

EAT APPLE FREELY WILLIAM HAMBY PASSES AWAY

WELL DESCRIBED AS SUBSTITUTE FOR MEDICINE.

Humble Fruit, Because It Is So Common, Has Not Been Received With the Appreciation That It Deserves.

Because it is a common fruit, the apple is not appreciated at its full value. As one authority states, its rank in value among fruits is equal to wheat among cereals. Its proportion of salts and phosphates helps to keep the liver, stomach and intestines in a healthy condition. A diet of apples is considered by some to be as effective as the famous grape cure. In a word, apples, especially when eaten in simple form, are a valuable and inexpensive substitute for medicine.

Use early apples very freely, especially uncooked, for dessert. To give variety to the menu, serve apples in the many appetizing desserts easy to prepare.

Avoid overeating, use meat sparingly. Eat eggs, fish and vegetables. Give the children eggs and milk to supply energy and building material. As fresh vegetables are abundant, it is possible virtually to eliminate meat and revel in the month's special resources. Avoid rich pastry, and let desserts be light, easily made and refreshing. Heretically turn your eyes from recipes for pies and elaborate puddings.

Seek originality in using flavors and seasonings; don't be afraid to introduce to your family an old friend in a new dress of different seasonings. Variety, even in seasonings, may help to keep a family from getting into ruts. A cook of my acquaintance sometimes puts a tiny dust of cinnamon and ginger into her vegetable cream soup; they lend a unique but subtle flavor. Venture some combinations which may not be as well liked. Cut loose from what one "likes best" and give the palate a surprise party, for psychological reasons, at least.

In planning all meals avoid combinations which give a sauciness of types of food. For instance, never combine in a meal such dishes as cream of potato soup, halibut with egg sauce, mashed potato and corn, cream cheese, salad and junket. Always remember that a rich soup is suitable to precede only a moderately hearty course; that a very heavy main course should be followed by a light salad and a delicate dessert. Instead, for instance, of serving mince pie and cheese after a roast-beef course.

Green corn prepared for soup, fritters or to scallop will be much more delicate if one is careful either to cut just the top from the kernel, or to score the rows with a sharp knife and scrape out the pulp with the back of a knife-blade, instead of cutting off the whole kernel and including a large proportion of the skin.—Exchange.

Indefinitely Put Off.

David and Walter had not met in some time, and one morning when they boarded the same car they began to chat of old times. "And when is your marriage to Carolyn Hathaway coming off, Dave?" queried Walter. "It has been postponed indefinitely," replied David. "Is that so?" said Walter. In surprise. "What's the trouble?" "She married another fellow."

Well Known North Christian

Shoes $20 a Pair.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—The price of hides hopped upward again to-day, further intensifying conditions in the American leather industry and lending support to a prediction that within a few months Americans may be paying $15 and $20 for shoes of ordinary quality. The Russian supply of light skins and hides is entirely cut off. England places embargoes on hides and skins whenever it suits her convenience.
